LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Revenue Department said Tuesday that tax collections for the first two months of the 1969 fiscal year are $4,625,478 above the collections of the first two months of the 1968 fiscal year.

The agency said tax collections for July and August of this year were $58,557,963. The collections for August were $31,332,022, an increase of more than $3.5 million over August 1968.

Massive B52 Raids Made Against Reds

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Massive American B52 strikes today hit North Vietnamese battle lines. South Vietnamese forces near the provincial capital of Song Be for the fourth day.

South Vietnamese casualties were climbing, with at least 30 troops killed, 138 wounded and 17 missing, as well as four American Green Beret advisers wounded.

The enemy resistance was so strong that more than 1,000 troops from the Green Berets' mobile strike force of hired tribesmen have been forced into retreat. Only six enemy soldiers were known dead.

The battle is taking place in heavy jungle near the Cambodian border about 85 miles northeast of Saigon.

The fighting was touched off Sunday when a battalion of strike force troops uncovered an enemy base camp. The South Vietnamese were surrounded quickly, attacked from all sides and forced to retreat. They have been unable to move forward since.

American intelligence officers thought at first the camp was the headquarters of an enemy regiment. But now there is speculation that it may be a division headquarters.

During the night more than 20 B52s pounded the enemy camp with more than 500 tons of bombs. Some strikes were only three miles from the Cambodian border.

A U.S. air cavalry battalion of 400 men which had reinforced the South Vietnamese Tuesday was pulled out today after another 400 strike force troops were flown in. But one battered battalion on the strike force also was pulled out, leaving 800 to 1,000 South Vietnamese troops committed to the battle.

Elsewhere—American air cavalry men probing the jungles of the enemy's War Zone C, 65 miles northwest of Saigon, ran into a barrage of machine-gun and rifle fire Tuesday for the fourth successive day. In a 10-minute fight, 12 enemy and two Americans were reported killed.

In the coastal lowlands south of Da Nang, U.S. troops attacking with tanks and armored personnel carriers killed 22 enemy soldiers near Duc Kho, 105 miles southeast of Da Nang. The Americans suffered four killed and six wounded.

U.S. Marine reconnaissance teams reported sighting more than 100 enemy soldiers in three groups on the move 24 miles southwest of Da Nang. Marine artillery blasted them, and at least 30 were reported killed.

Many College Students Are Feeling Pinch Of Getting Loans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Would-be college students across the country are feeling the financial pinch even more than usual this fall because of Congressional inaction on legislation to boost the interest rate on government-guaranteed student loans.

Some college officials say the delay will prevent hundreds of students—many in low-income groups—from attending college at all this year. Others will have to find cheaper schools. And thousands more will have to search a little harder to find the money for ever-increasing tuition and board costs.

The Senate has passed legislation raising the 7 per cent ceiling on the government-guaranteed student loans to 10 per cent, making them more attractive to lenders who now charge 8 1/2 per cent to prime borrowers.

The bill is stalled in the House, however, over an amendment to prohibit loans to student disrupters.

The House is expected to act on the measure Sept. 15 and President Nixon has appealed to lenders to keep student loans flowing despite the Congressional delay.

An Associated Press survey showed, however, that Sept. 15 may be too late for some students. One school has offered to let students with loan applications pending wait until November to pay tuition.

Doug Turner, director of financial aid for the University of Florida, said "I estimate 300 to 500 students were kept from the university because of this."

He said the poor students were the hardest hit because "they don't have the same bank contacts that others have."

New York University said First National City Bank, which heavily financed students under the guaranteed-loan program, now turns down requests if the prospective student borrower has not had a business relationship with the bank or been a previous borrower.

In Oregon, the U.S. National Bank and the First National Bank will lend only to students whose parents have made satisfactory deposits or who have had a financial relationship with the bank for at least a year.

A spokesman for Stanford University in California said the school expects to lose 450 students from an expected enrollment of 11,000 because of the Congressional delay and cutbacks in other federal aid programs like those under the National Defense Education Act.

Richard M. Keefe, dean of admissions at St. Louis University, said "There must be 100 cases" of students unable to get loans. Speaking of Congress, he added, "I don't know what they can be thinking of. This is where the need is greatest. It's really tough because most of this goes to help black students."

Pike was elected bishop coadjutor of San Francisco in 1958. His views on religion became increasingly controversial within a few years and drew criticism and charges of heresy from more conservative members of the Episcopal Church.

He challenged the belief in the virgin birth of Christ, questioned literal interpretations of the Bible and was opposed to the Vietnam War.

He resigned his bishopric in 1966 and became a research fellow at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara. His position was later eliminated in a reorganization.

After two marriages and two divorces, Pike last December married the former Diana Kennedy.

Sen. Dirksen Reportedly Doing Fine

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, 73, was reported in satisfactory condition after surgeons removed a growth from his right lung, but there was no official word on whether the tumor was cancerous.

The upper lobe of Dirksen's right lung was removed Tuesday by Army doctors at Walter Reed Hospital.

Aides to the senator said there was no immediate report from the hospital on whether the growth was malignant.

A statement issued by Dirksen's office said "there was no evidence of spread of the tumor" and his condition after the operation was termed satisfactory.

A spokesman for the Illinois Republican, who suffers from emphysema, said Dirksen smokes "lots" of cigarettes. "I don't know how many, but lots," the aide said.

Dirksen, who fractured his right hip three years ago, has always tended to roke about his physical ailments.

And colleagues have been amazed by his recuperative powers and his capacity for hard work and long hours. After repair surgery on his hip in 1966, he hobbled around the Senate on crutches for weeks.

First elected to the Senate in 1950, after serving for eight terms in the House, Dirksen is a skilled practitioner of the art of compromise and a key figure in keeping the legislative wheels turning.

During the three-week recess that Congress started Aug. 13, Dirksen went to Walter Reed for tests several times. But this was not surprising since he was in the habit of getting periodic check-ups.

Two Killed by Snipers in Race Incidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A white policeman and a 15-year-old Negro girl were shot to death Tuesday night in an outbreak of sniper fire in Camden, N.J. Sniping incidents with no reported injuries recurred in Hartford, Conn., and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The Camden victims were Patrolman Rande J. Chandler, 22, and Rose McDonald, both apparently hit by the same volley during the second night of disorders in the south Jersey city of 117,000.

Police said Chandler was one of several patrolmen assigned to clear debris that had been thrown into a street. As the patrolman approached, more trash, rocks and bottles began flying and then the shots rang out.

In Fort Lauderdale, sniper fire cracked again today as National Guardsmen and police calmed but failed to stop the violence that has gripped a predominantly Negro area three successive nights.

Police, joined by 100 guardsmen, patrolled to enforce an overnight curfew banning all but emergency personnel from streets in a 200-block area.

talked in terms of a near total cutoff, with exceptions only for emergency projects.

The administration was reportedly planning to work out final details at a Cabinet meeting Thursday in San Clemente.

The governors were confused as to exact terms and unhappy. "Nothing shocks people faster than news that the old buck isn't coming from Washington," said Gov. Dempsey, chairman of the Democratic governors caucus.

Another Democratic governor, who asked that his name not be used, said Agnew described the administration plan as a move designed to combat the spiral of steadily rising wages and prices.

This governor said the vice president also reported the halt in federal construction should release manpower and material for the building of private dwellings, which has suffered drastically in the cycle of rising costs and interest rates.

To this account, an administration source added word that the cutback plan also is intended to dampen the pressure for sharp wage increases in the construction industry. This source said if government projects are sharply reduced, the demand for construction workers will drop and their bargaining power in coming contract negotiations will be diminished.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

A real-life escape story, Russian author, Anatoly Kuznetsov's account of his defection from the Soviet Union, was the dramatic curtain raiser on CBS's season of Tuesday night news hours.

Kuznetsov speaks no English, but the hour-long interview taped in London overcame the obstacle neatly. CBS Correspondent Morley Safer asked the questions and Kuznetsov's answers were translated simultaneously by the Russian-speaking newspaperman David Floyd, to whom he turned for help.

Safer explained the writer still lives in hiding and Anatoly—he prefers to drop his last name—said "I am still afraid of Soviet officials."

In a quiet voice, the tense, bespectacled writer told of his carefully laid plans to escape from his native land after Soviet troops went into Czechoslovakia, "the last straw."

He told how he persuaded officials he was loyal and finally received permission to go to London for some research on a book about Lenin. Even when he told how he got rid of his official "watch-dog," his guard went off to a burlesque show—Anatoly showed only utter seriousness and almost apprehension.

The camera stayed in close-up on the subject most of the time the Russian was telling his story, and although the sound track recorded Oxford English, the effect was impressive.

Safer occasionally pressed Anatoly as if he were cross-examining him, asking almost accusingly if he felt guilt about his actions. Anatoly admitted he did, but spoke of the surveillance and suspicion in his homeland—"a concentration camp," he called it.

At one point he pulled a handful of film from his pocket. The rolls contained negatives of his manuscripts, he said, "My life." Safer asked if Anatoly did not fear for the safety of the family he left behind. There was a pause before the sad-looking man answered "very much indeed."

It was a vivid enterprising piece of broadcasting, and would have been, perhaps, even more effective if Safer had restrained his impulse to push with dramatic questions. Meanwhile, NBC opened its fall season of its monthly "First Tuesday" program with an assortment of short features in many moods. There was a report on a "youth pill"—a European patent medicine with no provable assets that gullible oldsters of this country were buying and which recently was barred by the government. There was some great film showing amateur sky-divers and another feature told of car lovers collecting Edsels.

HOW TO LOSE A DAUGHTER

Dear Helen: I was married at 15 and had my baby seven months later. Now my only child is 18. I have been divorced three times. We could qualify for those ads on TV—"Which is mother, which is daughter?" I'm afraid she is a little jealous because of this. She is quiet and dull, while I enjoy life.

Several months ago she met a fellow who isn't her type at all. He handsome and full of the devil. It would never have worked out, but she fell for him hard.

He started coming over here to wait until she got home from her night job. We'd have a few drinks and a few laughs. Of course the inevitable happened.

How can we tell my daughter that her boy friend is now MY boy friend, and he prefers experienced women to "Miss Purty 69?"

I may even decide to marry him. But will my daughter ever trust me again?—YOUNG 34

Dear 34: Come off it, you. Did your ever trust you, even before you became rivals?

Go ahead and gloat (you may save her from a disastrous romance), but prepare for a lonely autumn, minus daughter and BOY friend.

Do you really think a 19-year-old would marry a woman 15 years his senior just because she is an easy playmate?—H.

Dear Helen: About Nevada's legalized prostitution. The writer said he didn't think any states had it. He's wrong.

It happens that there is a town near Los Angeles where both gambling and prostitution is legal. I'm sending the name, but you may decide not to print it.—free advertising. (NOTE FROM H: RIGHT)

Gypsy Mystique Sets Meal Mood

By AILEEN SNOODY

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Age of Aquarius continues to influence designs touching all aspects of the home. Closely allied to all things astrological is a renewed interest in gypsy motifs for parties.

Many a hostess gets out her crystal ball the old fish take a night off in the lavatory while their bowl adds mystique to a table, wraps a red bandana around her head, serves a gypsy stew (Brunswick) and everyone is happy.

There are designs and colors in paperware to match the gypsy party mood. For those who enjoy the conversation stirred up by palmistry, numerology or hand-writing analysis, a pack of Tarot cards for future-gazing will pique their interest. A gypsy party stimulates ideas.

were subjected to actual and attempted attacks by transient laborers and seasonal workers. Husbands and fathers finally met and decided to provide the necessary services openly and legally.

Now there is not only peaceful co-existence, but a new source of revenue from licenses.

As for my personal opinion, prostitution will never be right, but in this case, it was expedient.—M.B.

Dear Helen: That's a nice thought, that "God made woman from man's skull bone so she would be at his head; not from his foot bone so she would be trampled; but from his rib, so she might be by his side."

But MY minister has another version: When the Good Lord put Adam into a deep sleep to remove a rib, he laid the rib to one side as he continued to mold Eve.

Then along came a dog, grabbed the rib and ran. He got the gates of Eden with the Good Lord in hot pursuit. Well, the dog got through, just as he slammed the gate, chopping off his tail. Not having the rib, God fashioned Eve with the dog's tail. Thus, the yakki - yak of every female, like the wagging of a dog's tail.—JOSEPH

Dear Joe: Your minister is quite a wag. I hope his shaggy dog "Tail" doesn't get him excommunicated.—H.

The kids did. The big folks tried and tried and tried but wet sleeping bags weren't too conducive.

Finally, about 3 a.m., Daddy went to sleep.

At 4 a.m., he jumped out of his sleeping bag as a car horn blared in the darkness just outside the tent.

"Maybe it's a smart-aleck dog," said Daddy, dashing into the rainy darkness. Daddy was right.

The dog had her front paws on the horn, and lights were coming on in tents and campers around the campground.

"Shhhh," said Daddy, hoping nobody would notice where the honking was coming from.

"Nice Crackers, come on, come in the tent with us," said Daddy.

That excited Crackers. She ran round and round in the tent, waking up the kids. She found the food and that upset the wife.

Now the kids weren't sleepy, Crackers wasn't sleepy. Daddy and mommy were sleepy, though.

"Aaaaack," said Daddy. He said several other things, too. Finally dawn came. The rain stopped. Everybody got up.

"Let's go home," said Mommy.

Aged Living Alone Are Happiest

By FRANK CAREY

AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Old folks who live alone are the happiest—provided they are in good health, have incomes of about $4,000 and can see relatives or friends regularly, according to a new study.

Elderly people in poor health and with a low income have low morale and it makes little difference whether they live alone or not, report two psychologists for the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

Psychologists Floyd J. Fowler Jr. and Mary Ellen McCallis, in reporting Tuesday to the American Psychological Association convention, said they were somewhat surprised by several findings in interviews with 11,335 men and women aged 65 and over in the greater Boston area.

Contrary to what they had thought before launching their survey, age itself had no direct relationship to morale—at least as long as the key morale-sustainers were present.

And the same holds true for level of education and whether the aged person is native-born or an immigrant. On the latter point, the researchers said they had figured that immigrants "might have special difficulty adjusting to old age."

While declaring their analysis is "somewhat preliminary," the psychologists said the findings might have broad implications toward helping the needy aged.

"If level of education, generation in this country, or age itself had been found to be critical to morale," they said, "there would be little the community could do."

"However, level of income, condition of housing, and the number of social contacts outside the home are all problems with which community programs can help; and programs of preventative medicine seem likely to be able to raise the general level health among aged. In this sense the data are something of a challenge; it seems likely that something can be done."

"All right," said Daddy, going out into the rain. He brought all the groceries and clothes out of the car so the dog wouldn't chew them up, and then put Crackers in the vehicle.

"Wasn't that nice of me to do all that for Crackers?" asked Daddy. Before he got a reply the dog started barking in the car.

"She's lonely," said the kids. "She's afraid."

"Aaaaack," said Daddy. "Go to sleep."

Twins Begin Making Like Flag Winners

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles have been making a mockery of the American League East race for the past two months, and now, all of a sudden, their West Division counterparts are starting to do a dandy imitation.

The Minnesota Twins clubbed Cleveland and hard-luck Luis Tiant 5-3 Tuesday night for their third straight victory, their sixth in seven games and ninth in 11 games.

That triumph, combined with Oakland's routout at Boston, widened the Twins' lead to a fat six games over the A's with just a month left in the season.

The Twins have held first since July 5, but the A's were only two games off the pace only a week ago. However, Oakland has lost six of its last seven games during the Twins string of success.

In other American League activity, Chicago mauled Baltimore and Dave McNally 10-3, Kansas City whipped Detroit 6-2, New York nipped Seattle 5-4 in 15 innings and Washington took a doubleheader from California, 2-0 and 3-2.

In the National League, Chicago edged Cincinnati 5-4 in the completion of a suspended game, then won the regularly scheduled match 8-2; Houston edged St. Louis 7-6; Philadelphia blanked San Diego 2-0, and New York nipped Los Angeles 5-4.

Tiant, who won 21 games last year, had checked the Twins on three hits in a 1-1 tie in the fifth, when Minnesota exploded for two runs and then drove him from the mound in the sixth with two more. It was Tiant's 18th loss and the seventh straight for the Indians.

Ted Uhlander drove in one of Minnesota's sixth-inning counters with a single that extended his hitting streak to 15 games.

Harmon Killebrew produced an earlier run to boost his RBI total to 117.

The Twins, meanwhile, stopped Tony Horton's hitting streak at 19 games.

McNally, who won his first 15 games, suffered his sixth loss in his last eight decisions as the White Sox erupted for nine runs in the sixth inning to top Baltimore for the first time this year in their last meeting of the season.

Chicago paraded 13 men to the plate during the outburst, with Bill Melton and Bobby Knapp each slamming two hits. Boog Powell homered for the Orioles, his 35th of the year.

Joe Joy and rookie Lou Pinella each had a pair of RBIs as Kansas City handed World Series hero Mickey Lolich his eighth loss in 25 decisions.

Tom Tresh and Jim Northrup hit consecutive homers off winner Roger Nelson in the fourth. Jerry Kenney's RBI single in the 15th gave the Yankees victory over Seattle, after an unusual obstruction play kept the New Yorkers alive in the 14th inning.

Pilot pinch-hitter Merritt Raney had lashed an RBI single with two out in the 14th inning to give Seattle a 4-3 lead. But, in the bottom of the inning, Horace Clarke singled, stole second and moved to third on a groundout.

When Roy White smacked an infield grounder, Clarke was trapped in a run down between third and the plate, Clarke eventually was caught but was declared safe and allowed to score when third base umpire Larry Barnett ruled that pitcher Gene Brabender had obstructed Clark's path.

Danny Walton, a minor leaguer obtained from Houston in the Tommy Davis trade, hit his first major league homer to give the Pilots a 3-2 lead in the ninth, but Clarke's run-scoring single in the bottom of the inning sent the game into extra innings.

Bobby Murcer hit his 22nd homer for the Yanks in the sixth, a solo blast. Jim Hannan pitched a three-hitter in going the route for the first time this season and Frank Howard, No. 43, and Lee Maye, No. 8, backed him with solo homers as the Senators won the opener.

Ken McMullen knocked in two runs with a single and scored the other in leading Washington to victory in the nightcap, called after California batted in the sixth because of rain.

Players Now Dragging, Coach Says

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

In three weeks of practicing, the Hope Bobcats had satisfied the coaching staff to no end with their effort, desire, and progress.

The bubble burst late yesterday, as the squad went through a three-hour workout which was termed by Head Assistant Coach Willie Tate as "terrible." He said that the boys were just dragging around out there, and Head Coach Ronnie Higgins echoed those sentiments.

With only one more drill in full pads before the opener at Ashdown this Friday night, the Bobcats hopefully will be able to bounce back with a good effort today. However, yesterday's results might be an indication that the squad is just a little tired of all the practicing and is looking ahead to the game. Taking the attitude of the pessimist, though, this writer remembers the restlessness of the final week's working which in the end wound up as a 7-0 loss to a scrappy underdog Ashdown team last year.

Hope's lineup, both offensively and defensively, is loaded with size, speed, experience, and potential. This is understood, because our teams have exhibited the same qualities for some time, but bad attitude and lack of leadership put it all down the drain.

This is the great fear of 1969, the lingering nightmare of the opening loss like last time. If this fear can be converted in anger and a spirit of revenge by Friday night, then the best team will win.

Ashdown just can't have better personnel on hand than the Bobcats do, unless their entire squad has gained about 20 pounds per man and speeded up two seconds in the 100-yard dash. However, this does not mean that the Panthers can't win; truthfully, they probably will even be favored by the Associated Press this week.

For the Bobcats, the challenge will be to go into the game confident only of their own ability, while respecting Ashdown's to the fullest extent. Then it will take a smart game of football, without thinking one moment of letting up.

This all may have sounded like a locker room speech, which it may have been meant to be. But the first game is the most important bridge to cross, the toughest fight to win.

Tomorrow this column takes up the Ashdown Panthers for a preseason scouting report, which will be a weekly occurrence for each Bobcat opponent here on each Thursday.

Namath Sells Stock in Club

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Namath, quarterback star of the New York Jets, has officially sold his share of Bachelors III, an East Side nightclub, to Ray Abruzzese, spokesman for pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Tuesday. It was his refusal to sell in June that led to Namath's brief retirement.

Only Homer of Season Beats Redlegs

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It took 78 days, but Paul Popovich's only homer of the season finally caught up with the Cincinnati Reds.

On June 15 in the second game of a doubleheader, Popovich sparked a three-run third inning and, with Popovich singling home another run, the Chicago Cubs built up a 5-4 lead over the Reds before the game was suspended after seven innings.

Tuesday night, the two clubs resumed the game in Cincinnati, and when it was over it was still 5-4 Chicago.

Then the Cubs went out and pounded the Reds 8-2 in the regularly-scheduled game and built their lead in the National League East to five games over the New York Mets, who beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4.

The twin defeats left the Reds 1½ games behind idle, first-place San Francisco and a half game back of Los Angeles in the NL West.

Houston nipped St. Louis 7-6 in 11 innings and Philadelphia edged San Diego 2-0 in the only other scheduled National League action.

In the American League, Washington swept California 2-0 and 3-2, Kansas City topped Detroit 6-2, the New York Yankees outlasted Seattle 5-4 in 15 innings, Chicago belted Baltimore 10-3, Minnesota stopped Cleveland 5-2 and Oakland at Boston was rained out.

Oscar Gamble, Glenn Beckert and Don Kessinger keyed Chicago's second victory—Ferguson Jenkins' 19th against 11 defeats—over Cincinnati. Gamble singled in a run and tripled in two more, Beckert produced two more with a pair of singles and Kessinger drove in two with his fourth homer and a double.

Los Angeles' Willie Davis broke the Dodger record for a hitting streak set by Zack Wheat and became the first in the majors to hit in 30 straight since Stan Musial in 1950. But he struck out with two out and men on first and third in the ninth after the Dodgers had scored three times to make it 5-4.

Davis kept his streak alive by doubling in the sixth. He then scored the first Los Angeles run.

New York built up its five-run lead when Donn Clendenon hit his 10th and 11th homers, Ron Swoboda cracked a two-run double and Clendenon singled, stole second and scored on Ken Boswell's eighth-inning single.

St. Louis built up a 6-1 lead before Houston came back on Joe Morgan's three-run homer, Doug Rader's solo shot and Jesus Alou's seventh-inning RBI double.

The Astros then won it in the 11th when John Edwards raced home from third on Alou's infield hit. The victory left Houston five games back of San Francisco.

Rookie Billy Champion pitched a three-hitter and was backed by Richie Allen's run-scoring single and Cookie Rojas' sacrifice fly in Philadelphia's victory over San Diego.

Little Change in Pro Golf Money Winners

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time in recent weeks, there were no changes in the Top Ten of money winners on the Pro Golfers' Association tour. Only the individual numbers were altered.

Bob Lunn, who took the $20,000 first prize Monday in the Greater Hartford Open in a four-hole, sudden-death playoff with Dave Hill, zoomed from 34th place a week ago to 25th with a year's total of $62,974. Hill picked up $11,400 in defeat and continues in second place with $145,080.

Frank Bears, who has played in 25 weeks of PGA stops, remains No. 1 with $159,859. He has finished in the top five of nine tournaments, winning two of them.

Others in Top Ten in addition to Beard and Hill are: 3. Gary Player, $123,897; 4. Gene Littler, $110,787; 5. Ray Floyd, $109,469; 6. Lee Trevino, $99,532; 7. Bruce Crampton, $91,807; 8. Tommy Aaron, $87,623; 9. Bill Casper, $86,360; 10. Miller, $85,134.

Doomsday Gang Waiting for Namath

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Doomsday Gang is laying in wait for Broadway Joe Namath, pro football's controversial ace quarterback, deep in the heart of Texas.

Which indicates that the Super Bowl hero of the World Champion New York Jets is in for a rough time in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas Saturday night when the Cowboys tangle with the Jets in an exhibition game.

The Doomsday Gang is the name given to the Cowboys' defensive front four who aim to rush Namath all over the place.

"He is just like any other quarterback to me, I hate them all," declared George Andrie, a defensive end Tuesday. "It's a tremendous challenge to play the Super Bowl champs. It means a lot to all of us."

"I've been thinking about him the whole off-season," commented Bob Lilly, another of the Cowboy front four. "This has to be the biggest exhibition we've ever played. I think we will be motivated a little more because of Namath."

"We've got it on us that we lose games against strong teams, so it could really help us to beat the Jets and then the Colts next week."

Namath got a taste of what might be in store for him when he was dumped twice for losses by Minnesota last week, although he threw two touchdown passes in guiding the Jets to a 24-21 victory over the Vikings.

"It was good to get that practice in scrambling," Namath said afterwards. "I needed it."

The Cowboys beat the Houston Oilers 14-11 last week to help the National Football League clinch the exhibition series with rival American League outfits.

Going into this weekend NFL teams have won 17, lost 11 and tied one, thus clinching the 33-game inter-league series.

Elsewhere, on Tuesday, Forrest Gregg, an assistant coach, was re-activated as a player by Green Bay and may start at tackle against Pittsburgh Saturday.

Split end Richard Trapp was traded by the Buffalo Bills to the San Diego Chargers and the Oakland Raiders placed quarterback Elridge Dickey, their 1968 top draft choice, on waivers.

Season's attendance reached 1,002,114, also a record in Florida.

13 More Pro Players Listed on Super Team

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirteen players who at one time or another were members of the Green Bay Packers, including quarterback Bart Starr and running back Paul Hornung, were named today to an all-1960s team commemorating the 50th anniversary season of the National Football League.

The all-1960s team is the last of five all-star teams spanning the five decades of NFL history commemorated by the NFL in conjunction with Simon and Schuster, in a book called "The First Fifty Years." The decade teams lead to an all-time all-star team to be announced shortly.

That the '60s are the era of Vince Lombardi and the Packers is attested to by the fact that almost one-third of the selections on the 40-man, all-1960s team are past or present players who did things the Green Bay way.

On offense that includes San and Hornung, tackle Forrest Gregg, guard Jerry Kramer, center Jim Ringo, flanker Boyd Dowler, running back Jim Taylor and punter Don Chandler.

On defense the line-up shows end Willie Davis, linebackers Ray Nitschke and Dave Robinson, halfback Herb Adderley and safety Willie Wood.

All were part of the tradition Lombardi instilled during the Packers' reign at the top—a tradition based in power and precision plus total emotional commitment.

They are, however, not alone in gaining distinction. Also earning spots on the team were two other quarterbacks—Sonny Jurgensen and Johnny Unitas—and running backs Jim Brown, Leroy Kelly, Gale Sayers and John David Crow.

The receiving corps is bolstered by Del Shofner, Charley Taylor and Gary Collins, plus the peerless tight end John Mackey.

Among the defensive standouts named were Deacon Jones, Alex Karras, Merlin Olsen, Bob Lilly, Dick Butkus, Tommy Nobis, Lem Barney and Larry Wilson.

Westfall Signs His Contract

BOSTON (AP) — Eddie Westfall, eight-year veteran of the Boston Bruins, has signed his 1969-70 contract, the National Hockey League club announced today.

Westfall, 28, scored 18 goals last year. A right wing, Westfall also is one of the Bruins' penalty killers.

Big Test for Today for Ashe, Gonzales

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The big test comes today for America's two leading tennis personalities, Pancho Gonzales and Arthur Ashe, Jr.

Old Pancho, 41, his bones and muscles still aching from a tough tennis campaign, got an extra day of rest because of rain and goes against third-seeded Tony Roche in a delayed fourth round of the U.S. Open championships.

Ashe, fighting a tennis elbow, meets 34-year-old Ken Rosewall in one of two men's quarter-finals on the West Side Club schedule. The other sends favorite Rod Laver, unbeaten in his last 27 matches against fellow Australian, Roy Emerson.

Three other players advanced to the men's quarter-finals Tuesday.

They were second-seeded John Newcombe of Australia, who had to fight off five set points in the fourth set and survive a five-hour marathon in beating Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 25-23; Fred Stolle on Australia, who beat Britain's Roger Taylor, 6-4, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3, and Earl "Butch" Buchholz of St. Louis, who upset 11th-seeded Andres Gimeno 4-6, 6-3, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3.

Newcombe plays Stolle and Buchholz faces the Gonzales-Roche survivor in the men's quarter-finals Thursday.

Finalists were to be decided also today in the women's singles.

Mrs. Margaret Court, the favorite, opposes Virginia Wade of Britain, the defending titleholder, and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, takes on Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex.

College Football's BEST BLOOPERS

In college football's annals of the bizarre, there will always be room for the 12th member of the University of Kansas football team last New Year's Night—whoever he was.

The scene was the 1969 Orange Bowl where Penn State defeated Kansas, 15-14, against overwhelming odds—say 12 to 11. During the last 80 seconds of play, Kansas conducted a brilliant goal-line stand by using 12 men against Penn State's 11. Through a misunderstanding on the field—two Jayhawks came in, one went out—Kansas counted itself into infamy.

Penn State actually scored against the Jayhawk dozen with 15 seconds remaining. Then the Lions failed on a two-point conversion try as a flock of Jayhawks knocked down an attempted pass. The flock, however, was too big by one.

Umpire Foster Grose had counted the Kansas crowd from his position in the end zone. "I knew before the ball was ever snapped that I'd have to call a foul," he said. "I had my hand on the marker. It was all very routine, the counting of players, I mean. I do it almost every play."

The flag fluttered, the penalty was marched off, and this time halfback Bob Campbell scored on a sweep, winding up an unbeaten season for the Nittany Lions.

Ignore Sweet Willie, Negroes Are Urged

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — Mayor Robert Cope of Forrest City Tuesday urged Negro residents to ignore a Sept. 14 rally planned by Lance "Sweet Willie Wine" Watson at Forrest City.

Watson is the leader of a black militant group at Memphis known as the Invaders. "I do not condone the appearance of Sweet Willie Wine and the so-called Invaders coming to Forrest City for any purpose other than to visit," Cope said. "I am now appealing to all colored citizens, especially to the Revs. J.F. Cooley, Cato Brooks and E. A. Williams, along with the Committee for Peaceful Coexistence, who are responsible for the appearance of Sweet Willie Wine in our city, to resist with their powers and numbers the return of Sweet Willie Wine."

Cooley and Brooks are co-chairmen of the committee, of which Williams is a member. All have been leaders in the Negro demonstrations asking for improved conditions and better jobs. Watson was one of five persons accosted last week by

OFFENSE

PASSING—Brittleness is one apparent factor in Bart Starr's advancing days—he's 35. Last couple of years he's been shelved almost as much as he's played. Young Don Horn, with two years of spotty appearances, is only take-over guy in sight, now that Zeke Bratkowski's retired to coach (and maybe help in emergency). Rating—B.

RECEIVING—Same old frontline crew of Carroll Dale, Boyd Dowler in wide spots, Marv Fleming at tight end. And though the deep men are both past 30, there's no sign they've slowed up. They weren't speed demons to start with. Fleming's endured a lot of harassment to solidify niche in line-up. These guys don't break game open but reinforce Packer philosophy of ball control. Rating—B.

RUNNING—Finally come down to Million Dollar Duo of Donny Anderson-Jim Grabowski earning its keep. Main burden's on them. Grabo's coming off knee surgery, but Donny made long strides last year. Travis Williams still has to harness speed; Elijah Pitts still rickety. Couple of rookies—Perry Williams, Dave Hampton—are depth supply. Rating—B+.

LINE—Center Ken Bowman, guard Gale Gillingham look around and feel stripped. Old playmates Kramer, Gregg, Bob Skoronski gone. So Bob Hyland (big, unanimated) moves in at guard; Francis Peay (good-looking muscles, no results yet), unknown Dick Himes at tackle. And not a leader in sight. Strong suspicion in Green Bay: Gregg may be lured back, even at 36. After all, he's handy as assistant coach. Rating—C+.

DEFENSE

LINE—Old Willie Davis (35), Henry Jordan (34) going to give it one more shot. Of two, Davis more likely to persist as regular. With bad back, Henry faces tough competition from couple of experienced subs, Jim Weatherwax and Bob Jeter at corners; runners don't evade Wood. Moore's such a good-looking, huge (285) rookie, Pack didn't even worry about dumping Ron Kostelnik. Lionel Aldridge hangs on at end, too. Rating—B.

LINEBACKING—Still most awesome around, even if Dave Robinson had only so so (for him) year. Roy Nitschke's approaching 33 and Lee Roy Caffey has to be prodded. Fred Carr's there to do prodding, and Jim Flanigan should give Nitschke rest if he needs it. These guys—all five of them—do it all. Rating—A-.

SECONDARY—It's an all-over-30 unit (with Willie Wood the senior at 32), yet nobody's feeling sorry for them. Receivers still don't run away from Herb Adderley, Bob Jeter at corners; runners don't evade Wood. Doug Hart, succeeding traded Tom Brown, has ample experience to play strong safety. Key reserve is John Rowser. Rating—B+.

KICKING—Mike Mercer filled aching void last half of '68 and cured one of Green Bay's biggest problems. Donny Anderson doesn't kick stuffing out of ball, but his punts go high, aren't returned. Rating—B.

Guatemala, Honduras in Storm Path

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Francella was situated about 30 miles off the coasts of Guatemala and British Honduras in the Gulf of Honduras at 6 a.m. EDT, the National Hurricane Center reported.

The center placed the storm 30 miles east of Punta Gorda, British Honduras, and about the same distance north from the Guatemalan town of Puerto Barrios.

Reports from Punta Gorda, Stann Creek, Belize and ships in the area indicated the storm was stationary. But the hurricane center said it might "drift to the southwest later today."

Three hours earlier, the center said Francella hit the British Honduras coast a little northeast of Punta Gorda with top winds of 100 miles an hour.

"Flash flooding is likely through portions of British Honduras and Guatemala today and tonight and probably into Thursday," an advisory said. The advisory also predicted thies of 5 to 10 feet above normal along the coast of southern British Honduras and west of Puerto Barrios.

In advance of Francella's arrival, Gov. Sir John Paul of British Honduras mobilized a volunteer guard of 200 British men to lead whatever relief efforts might be necessary.

Murphy Firm Not Affected

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—A Murphy Oil Corp. spokesman said Tuesday that the firm's operations in Libya had not been affected by a military takeover of that country's government.

Murphy has extensive holdings throughout the Middle East and is headquartered at El Dorado. The company spokesman said that no Murphy employees are stationed in Libya.

The spokesman also said that the company's interest there is as a partner with a group of other oil companies.

HOPE NEWSPAPER HISTORY:
The 1929 consolidation joined the two principal newspaper lines dating back to within five years of Hope's incorporation in 1875.
1899 — Star of Hope founded as a weekly by Claude McCorkle; converted to an evening daily by his son, Ed. McCorkle, publishing until the 1929 consolidation.
The opposition line:
1880 — Hope News founded by Lowry Brothers.
1883 — Sold to Withers & Johnson, name changed to Hope Telegraph.
1883 — Later in same year resold to Claude McCorkle and renamed Hope Mercury.
1884 — Sold to James H. Betts, who named it Hope Gazette, under which name it was published continuously until 1922, published by Betts, J.L. Tullis, and Col. W.W. Folsom the last-named dying in 1916.
1916 — Purkins & Gates bought the weekly Gazette and made it a companion paper to their new daily, Arkansas Evening Herald — but both papers suspended in 1922.
1926 — Plant was revived by Curtis Cannon as the weekly Hempstead County Review.
1927 — Cannon sold plant to D.A. Gean, who established the morning Hope Daily Press.
1929 — C.E. Palmer and A.H. Washburn consolidated The Star and the Press as Hope Star, with Palmer as president and Washburn secretary-treasurer.
1957 — Following Mr. Palmer's death Mrs. Palmer became president.
1969 — With Mrs. Palmer's retirement from Star Publishing Co. Washburn became 76 per cent owner and president — balance 24 per cent being held by Texarkana Newspapers, Inc.

Cities Line Up for Nixon's Welfare Plan

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Organizations representing the nation's cities are lining up behind the Nixon administration's welfare and revenue-sharing proposals in a new alliance that puts them at odds with governors of major industrial states.

The situation, becoming increasingly apparent as the municipal groups play an unprecedented part in this week's National Governors Conference, represents a dramatic change from the early days of the Nixon administration. Then Vice President Spiro T. Agnew gave the mayors and their groups the impression that the new Republican administration would deal primarily with the states, and that cities would have to deal through states in contacts with the federal government.

But, according to Gov. Daniel Evans of Washington, one of the architects of the revenue-sharing proposal to channel federal funds without strings to states and on to cities, it became apparent that the interests of the cities and the administration were very much alike.

Spokesmen for the municipal groups made clear during business sessions of the conference here and in reacting to President Nixon's address Monday night that they feel the principles of the revenue sharing and welfare proposals are far more important than any inequities that might exist now in their specifics.

"If this were the final proposal," President Jack Matister of the U.S. Conference of Mayors said in an interview, "we might be strongly opposed."

But he pointedly declined to go along with criticism by Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, who charged the programs plus the House-passed tax reform bill constitute a significant lost opportunity to help the cities' desperate problems.

"It has to be a package," the San Leandro, Calif., executive, a Democrat elected in a nonpartisan election, said.

Opening lead—♥ 2

Everything seems to happen to the unlucky expert. Even when he does nothing to bring on bad luck, it seems to follow him around. Today's hand is an example. Most players would open his hand with one spade but he elected to bid one no-trump. If he had opened one spade, the final contract would surely have been four spades. He arrived at the same spot after opening one no-trump. It seems that North decided to use the Stayman convention to find a major suit fit.

Stayman is a fine convention. We use it ourselves but would simply have gone to three no-trump with this particular North hand. We might add that Sam Stayman would also have left his convention alone this time and gone directly to three no-trump. You don't really need to look for a major suit fit with this sort of North holding.

Of course, our friend was also most unlucky in running into inspired defense. West started the ball rolling for his side by opening a heart. East took that first trick with his king and looked around for some way to beat the four-spade contract. Finally he hit on the killing defense.

There were 21 high-card points in his hand and the dummy. That left 19 for West and the declarer. Give declarer 16 and West could hold the king of clubs. East decided to play him for that card and he shifted to a club — but he also shifted to the right club — the 10. This play left our friend with no place to go but down. He could duck entirely, rise with the ace or cover with the jack, but the defense were going to wind up with two club tricks and two heart tricks.

Note that, due to the presence of the nine in dummy, only the lead of the 10 would have worked.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Allergy Is Main Cause Of Seasonal Headaches

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—For several years my husband has had severe headaches in the fall. They last for about six weeks. Believing that they are caused by some pollen, our doctor prescribed an antihistamine. But it didn't help. What would you suggest?
 A—Seasonal headaches are almost always due to an allergy. Antihistamines sometimes relieve but never cure them. An allergist may be able to identify the offending allergen and treat your husband by desensitization or other means.

Q—Is there any way a doctor can tell whether a headache is caused by nervous tension, migraine, neuralgia or the forerunner of a cerebral hemorrhage?
 A—The headache brought on by tension is usually dull, persistent and felt throughout the whole head or as a constricting band around the head. Migraine, often associated with an attack of zig-zag or shimmering blindness and vomiting, is intense and localized in front on one side only. A neuralgic headache is usually located in the region of the cheek bone rather than in the skull.

None of these conditions are a forerunner of a stroke, which is usually a complication of hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure.

Q—Why do I wake up with a severe pain in my forehead almost every morning? Any helpful suggestions?
 A—Morning headaches are usually associated with chronic sinusitis or chronic kidney disease. The first step toward relief is to determine the cause.

Q—I get a slight pain in my left or right temple (never both) that lasts a few minutes, then goes away. I blame it on tension, but I wonder whether a brain tumor starts this way?
 A—A person with a brain tumor more often than not has no headache in the early stages. When, because of its size or location, the tumor does cause a headache the characteristics vary so widely that the headache is of no value as a diagnostic sign.

Q—Is cancer catching?
 A—Although the mode of transmission of cancer is still not well understood, there is ample evidence that it is not contagious.

Treatment of Prisoners Is Harsh, 2 Say

By BOB POOS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Navy men have given harsh accounts of North Vietnamese prison camp life in a switch of U.S. government tactics to bring pressure on Hanoi concerning prisoner of war treatment.

Few if any details came with the release of other American prisoners, but Tuesday, Lt. Robert F. Frishman and seaman Douglas Brent Hegdahl told newsmen of torture, hunger and solitary confinement.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird followed this with a statement saying "North Vietnam has violated even the most fundamental standards of human decency."

Hanoi, Laird said, "consistently has claimed through propaganda statements that our men are being treated humanely." This has been clearly refuted, he said.

Frishman said his story was told because of "a strong obligation to those still back there to get the truth out."

The lieutenant said American prisoners have had their fingernails pulled out, been burned with glowing cigarette ends, beaten, suspended from beams by ropes, and cast into tiny almost airless cells for months on end.

"You resist so long," he said, "but it is only a matter of time before they can make you do anything they want you to do."

Frishman indicated his words may well cause further torture for the friends he left behind.

But, he said, several POW's got together before he left and it was the consensus that he should tell it like it is behind the barbed wire in Hanoi.

From this, Frishman said, he hopes that world opinion may force Hanoi to bring their treatment under the specifications of the Geneva Convention, which North Vietnam has signed.

Frishman, 28, was shot down by a surface to air missile. He suffered gave wounds to his right arm and North Vietnamese doctors removed his elbow.

Frishman lost 50 pounds in captivity, Hegdahl 60.

Hegdahl, 22, said that as an enlisted man he did not suffer as much as the officers, who were mostly airmen. He did spend seven months and 10 days in solitary. The seaman was captured by fishermen when he fell off the deck of the cruiser USS Canberra.

Laird urged North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to release all prisoners. He said they should immediately identify the prisoners they hold, release the sick and injured, and permit impartial inspections of all POW camps and the free exchange of mail.

Ford Motor Co. Drops Its Falcon Line

MONTAUK, N.Y. (AP) — The Ford Motor Co., noting that "affluence is all about us," announced today it will drop its compact Falcon line.

The Falcon production line, Ford said, will be converted to the popular Maverick.

Ford also said, without further explanation, that early in 1980, the Falcon name will be on a new car, to be announced later. There has been speculation that Ford will introduce a car to compete directly with the Volkswagen.

The decision on the Falcon, rumored recently, was contained in a speech prepared by John Naughton, vice president of the Ford Motor Co. and general manager of the Ford Division, for a news conference in which Ford unveiled the company's 1970 models.

The new models exhibit a trend towards longer and lower lines and emphasis on what Ford calls its intermediate cars.

"Affluence is all about us," Naughton said, "and that affluence is having a powerful impact on automobile makers who must stay ahead of changing trends."

PERSONAL FINANCE

By CARLTON SMITH and RICHARD PUTNAM PRATT

You can greatly enhance your chances of getting a mortgage loan approved if you make out the kind of application that a lending officer likes to see. And here's what he likes, as found in the banking industry's own handbook of policies and procedures for mortgage-loan officers.

In one chapter there's a section on "Evaluating the Borrower," which goes beyond the dollar-and cents facts about the borrower's income, other indebtedness, etc., to his mental attitudes and motivations.

"It is always hazardous to attempt to appraise a mental attitude, but attitudes are important," says this manual prepared by the American Bankers Association for use by its 14,000 member banks. "But it is possible always to take cognizance of the case in which an attitude is made clearly manifest."

and the manual goes on to tell how to pick out the manifest cases.

There is the matter of "motivation in the transaction." Here the loan officer is attempting to "judge the relationship of the borrower to the property." He's trying to find out how strongly attached you are to the property you want to buy and how likely it is that you'll stay strongly attached. In short, why do you want to buy this particular house, in this particular location?

For example, "the incentive of 'keeping up with the Joneses' is sometimes manifested by a desire on the part of the borrower to purchase a house which is beyond his means," the manual points out. This warns the loan officer that you, as a prospective borrower, may regard the house more as a status symbol than as a home valued for its genuine appeal to the family that will live in it.

How do you make this look good on your application? Don't stretch too much simply for the sake of "moving up." Pick a house that doesn't put a strain on your financial capabilities and one the family can become attached to, not just a house that satisfies your ego.

You'll be rated, as a borrower, on "personal financial management." As the manual says, "It is not to be expected that borrowers will receive a perfect rating" on this one. (It's possible for loan officers to assign actual point scores and rate borrowers on the basis of 100 as a perfect score.) Everybody gets his share of troubles—as any banker well knows—and what's of interest here is how well you'll manage in a pinch.

"Is he resourceful," the manual asks, "and can he adapt to meet a situation caused by economic changes beyond his control?"

How do you make your application look good here? You'll have to start making a record—if you don't already have one—of knowing how to manage your affairs. In the event of "circumstances beyond your control," knowing how to retrench, tighten up, cut back, get things under control.

A loan officer would a lot rather see an application that shows a prospective borrower has been in trouble, and knew how to get out, than one that indicates the borrower doesn't think there's any such thing as trouble.

You'll be judged—or possibly scored—on whether you overuse credit. "Unusually large use of credit, even though the borrower has met his obligations, warrants a low rating on this feature," says the manual.

What it all adds up to is the picture of a borrower who doesn't overextend himself or put himself in a precarious financial situation, particularly with respect to the house he proposes to buy.

Sorry, but there doesn't seem to be any way to doctor up an application to make it look good. The best way to get a loan application approved is to apply sound principles of financial management, both in picking a house to buy and for several years before.

Gazette Does a Hatchet Job on Forrest City Editor

That apostle of freedom of speech as applied to minority groups, the Arkansas Gazette, isn't quite so zealous when it comes to defending freedom of the press. Witness this morning's editorial making a personal attack upon Bonner McCollum, editor and publisher of the Forrest City Times-Herald.

McCollum was manhandled by a mob during Forrest City's race riots, went back to his office and wrote an editorial charging the Gazette with helping to incite violence—and the Gazette replied this morning with the following:

"After having done so little through all these years as editor of the Forrest City Times-Herald effectively to prepare 'his people' for the altered facts of life of the 20th Century, Mr. McCollum seemed genuinely shocked when 'his people' showed up at his newspaper plant to confront him and, later, to threaten his life."

The Gazette went into details about Editor McCollum's shortcomings in the past, but showed precious little concern whether the mob killed the editor and burned down his printing plant—which bears out our opening commentary. The Gazette puts minority rights, however violently expressed, ahead of freedom of the press, which is vital to all the people.

Our condolences to Bonner McCollum over this morning's hatchet job by the Gazette—which has but one technique, and is constantly repeating it, the only change through the years being the issues and the personalities.

Does the Gazette charge Editor McCollum with "having done so little through all these years"? Think nothing of it.

It's simply a cliché the unoriginal Gazette uses on every occasion and against every editor.

A decade ago when I was fighting for reform of Arkansas' voluntary tax assessment system—opposing expansion of the sales tax because there would be no assessment reform as long as new money could be gotten from the sales tax—the Gazette questioned my integrity and, in effect, said about me just what they said this morning about McCollum—"Washburn has done precious little about assessment reform in his home county all these years."

Many heads roll, the Gazette likes to think—all from its marvelous one-phrase axe!

There's a legend around Arkansas that if the Gazette attacks you it's proof positive you must be right—and judging from the Gazette's atrocious error in reporting my own case I must presume it hasn't told the truth about Forrest City's McCollum either.

The Gazette sneered at my assessment reform program, and yet the facts were:

1. It attained sufficient prominence to cause me to be appointed to the late Gov. Francis Cherry's state-wide Committee of 25 to study the Arkansas assessing system.

2. It was so effective it caused the Hempstead county assessor to attack me on the street and pay a municipal court fine therefor.

3. Finally, I spent $18,000 personally on assessment-connected state-wide petitions against sales tax expansion, carrying a lawsuit to the United States Supreme Court.

All of which the Gazette dismissed as "having done so little through all these years."

I don't know what Editor McCollum has tried to do to improve race relations in Forrest City—but if he hasn't found the solution neither has it been discovered in other cities of America.

And while we're on the subject of what influence a newspaper has in its own town, take a long look at the Arkansas Gazette.

Kennedy Inquest Is Postponed

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — District Court Judge James A. Boyle officially postponed this morning the inquest that was to have begun before him today into the death of Miss Mary Jo Kopechne.

The postponement was ordered in Boston Tuesday by Associate Justice Paul C. Reardon of the Massachusetts Supreme Court on a motion by lawyers for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, in whose car Miss Kopechne died.

The justice also warned officials connected with the case against making public statements about it.

Reardon's order called for a hearing by the full even-justice Supreme Court into constitutional issues raised by Kennedy counsel. No date was set. Reardon said the court would first study the matter and then proceed when the parties to the case were ready to go ahead.

The full court normally convenes Oct. 1. Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn said it appeared unlikely that there would be any action for at least two weeks. A possible appeal from whatever ruling comes from the full high court could further delay the inquest.

Reardon's order was directed at Dist. Judge James A. Boyle scheduled to conduct the inquest ordered by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dineen.

The postponement was sought by Kennedy's attorneys because of rules for the inquest set down by Judge Boyle. The lawyers argued Kennedy's constitutional rights would be abridged by Boyle's refusal to permit cross-examination of witnesses.

Miss Kopechne, 28, former aide to Robert F. Kennedy, was killed in an accident the night of July 18 in which Sen. Kennedy's car went off a bridge and into a tidal pool on Chappaquiddick Island adjacent to Martha's Vineyard.

A medical examiner said she drowned. Kennedy, 37, escaped from the vehicle, pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of the accident and was given a two-month suspended jail sentence.

The hearing before Justice Reardon Tuesday lasted about 45 minutes. Boston lawyer Edward B. Hanly argued for the postponement. Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph J. Hurley represented Judge Boyle.

Reardon ordered Judge Boyle to deliver to the Supreme Court documents dealing with the case and said an order would be issued "forthwith" enjoining him from proceeding until the high court heard the arguments.

Apparently This Poet Never Spent a Night Out on River Bank

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Writer
CLAYTON, Ga. (AP) — Sidney Lanier wrote passionate poems about the beauty of the tumbling mountain streams of north Georgia.

Obviously the poet never spent a night at a Tallulah River campground with a wife, two kids and a cocker spaniel in a leaky tent on a rainy night.

My prose by morning was what the kids called "naughty."

And the wife, ecstatic over the scenery when we pitched our tent at dusk on a bank of the river along with a dozen other campers, was ready to return to suburbia by dawn.

The beauty of the river, with its rapids of white water as it topples over rocks and twists and turns through the valley in a race to the sea, was forgotten.

Trouble started when father's errand cast of a trout lure caught the dog, Crackers.

"That's mean, Daddy. Why did you do that? Get her loose!" shouted the kids.

"Catch the dog," shouted Daddy, unable to reel in the whimpering animal. The fish ended with that episode. Daddy

Military Spending and Taxes Top of Agenda as Congress Returns

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Controversies over taxes and military spending top the agenda as Congress returns today from a three-week vacation.

Most of the action initially will be in the Senate where debate continues on proposed cuts in a $20 billion bill authorizing appropriations for defense projects.

And on Thursday the Senate Finance Committee will open hearings on the House-passed tax reform bill, with administration spokesmen first.

Missing from the Senate as work resumes is Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who had a lung operation Tuesday. In addition to the important role he plays as the GOP leader, Dirksen also is a member of Finance and of the Judiciary Committee which is to consider the nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth for the Supreme Court next week.

Up for action in the House this week are bills to amend the auto safety act, establish a toy safety program and extend the air pollution control law.

More controversial issues ticketed for House consideration later in the month include a 5-year extension of the 1965 Voting Rights Act and a constitutional amendment to provide for election of the president by direct, popular vote.

Renewed efforts also will be made to get early House action on a Senate-passed bill to revive the government-guaranteed student loan program, crippled by high interest rates.

As for the military spending debate in the Senate, an amendment to cut $533 million for additional C5A transport planes was pending when Congress started the recess Aug. 13.

Whether enough members would be back in time for a vote this week was uncertain.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., offered the amendment which is only one of several that would chop defense funds. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield estimated it would take 10 days to two weeks to finish with the bill.

Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy will be the lead-off witness at the Finance Committee's hearings on the big Alaska bill and is expected to recommend changes in it.

One concern of the administration is that the bill, when fully effective, would provide an estimated $9.2 billion in tax relief annually while bringing in additional revenues of only $6.8 billion.

In Santa Barbara, Calif., Pike's mother, Mrs. Pearl Chambers said her son and daughter-in-law went to the Holy Land to study the origins of Christianity and the Dead Sea Scrolls for a book he was writing. Pike told friends that he hoped to find documents or ancient records that would provide more information on Christ.

Pike was brought up in the Roman Catholic faith but became an agnostic during his college days. He took law degrees from the University of California and Yale and then worked for the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington and taught at George Washington University.

He joined the Episcopal Church during World War II.

Governors Dismayed at Nixon Plan

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — President Nixon plans a massive cutback in federally financed construction projects—an inflation-fighting move which stirred dismay among the nation's governors.

"I for one am not going to take it sitting down," said Democratic Gov. John N. Dempsey of Connecticut, who threatened to seek an immediate protest from the 61st National Governors Conference in session here.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told the governors of the administration plan at a closed session Tuesday and swore them to secrecy. But the news leaked almost immediately.

The formal announcement of the cutback is expected Friday, although administration representatives at the governors conference said that timetable is not firm.

The Nixon plan reportedly would cut off new federal construction projects immediately, and halt federal aid for such state projects as highway building effective next April 1.

Sources at the western White House in San Clemente, Calif., said the cutoff would affect 75 per cent of new projects in both categories. Administration officials still in Colorado Springs

Appointment by Nixon Expected

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon plans to announce an important appointment today and the Western White House made it something of a mystery.

Most of Nixon's top job appointments so far have leaked out or have been widely speculated about in advance.

But the White House seemed to have the lid on firmly this time. All presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler would say about the appointment was that it would not be a successor to Selective Service Director Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

Ziegler set the stage for the announcement by telling reporters Tuesday the President had a visitor coming in at 9:45 a.m. today and an important appointment would then be announced.

"If I were to tell you who the appointment was with, I would announce it," Ziegler said with a grin.

The President had a busy morning schedule in addition to the engagement with the mystery guest.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York was due in from the National Governors Conference in Colorado Springs, Colo., with his initial report to the President on a series of fact-finding visits he made to Latin America.

Ziegler said Rockefeller was not expected to go into a more controversial subject—federal welfare payments. Rockefeller introduced a resolution the governors adopted calling for the federal government to foot the whole bill for state welfare programs.

Nixon had asked Rockefeller to make the Latin American tour to get some first-hand information that might be useful in future policy-making decision in that area.

Ziegler said he doubted Rockefeller's report would be made public. The trip touched off protest demonstrations in some South American countries and a few of them asked Rockefeller to stay away.

After Rockefeller reports, Nixon convenes with the 26-member Nixon Foundation, a group he named last May to set up a nonprofit corporation for educational and charitable purposes and to establish a Richard Nixon library and museum. The library probably will be built near Nixon's oceanfront home here.

Now incorporated in California, the trustees were gathering for their first meeting, primarily to select a chairman and launch their operations.

Booneville Votes Bonds

BOONEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Booneville residents overwhelmingly approved a $3.5 million Act 9 bond issue Tuesday. The vote was 577 to 11. The bond issue is to be used to construct and equip a plant for the Wolverine Toy Co.

The company will pay off the bonds through rentals.
